Roero Arneis DOCG “Bataja”

This wine comes from the oldest and most charming white berry of the Roero area. Its name “Arneis” most certainly derives from “Bric Renesio”.

Grape:

100% Arneis

Aging:

After alcoholic fermentation this wine remains in contact with its sediment for a short time to increase its complexity, aromatic quality and fullness. As soon as it has clarified, it is bottled, and after just a few weeks the wine is ready for consumption.

Color:

Straw-yellow with greenish highlights.

Bouquet:

Fruity and floral, ample and persistent.

Taste:

Harmonious, with a good structure, pleasantly persistent and drinkable.
